

UNDERSTANDING AND INTERPRETING FINANCIAL STATEMENT FOR NON- FINANCIAL PERSONNEL

Demystifying Finance by Explaining Simply and Clearly What the Key Financial Statements Mean, How they Work and Relate to Each Other and How to Apply Key Management Ratios to Evaluate the Strengths and Weaknesses of the Business Operations

11th - 12th January 2018
Kuala Lumpur, Malaysia

Prerequisites

As the focus is on the decision-making process, participants will not be required to understand the book-keeping process and the preparation of financial statements. Instead, upon completing the workshop, they will gain the know-how to apply various analytical techniques to examine the performance of the business operations.

Major Benefits Of Attending

By end of this course, delegates will be able to:

- UNDERSTAND their company's financial statements
- PROVIDE meaningful and insightful contributions on financial matters
- INTERPRET what the financial information is telling them
- EVALUATE their future plans and projects from a financial perspective
- IDENTIFY potential problems within their business earlier
- DETERMINE the appropriate course of corrective action to identified problems
- BETTER MANAGE their own finances

Why you Should Attend?

To many non-financial managers, the world of financial terminology and statements is often unclear ... confusing ... even downright frustrating. But, the truth is, buried within those numbers are often the answers you need to make smart business decisions.

Have you ever found your attention wandering off when your colleagues start talking about your company's finances? Have you ever looked at a set of financial statements only to put them down straight away? Have you ever been in a meeting where finances are being discussed and you have found yourself either not understanding what is being discussed or not being able to contribute meaningfully to the discussion? If you answered yes to any of these questions, then this course is for you.

Here you will be taken through a very practical and informative workshop on understanding and interpreting financial statements. You will learn some of the important tools to use when reviewing financial statements. You will learn some of the common pitfalls of financial analysis and how to avoid them. You will learn the importance of having a holistic view of financial aspects of your company and industry.
