

ADVANCED INVENTORY MANAGEMENT & MATERIALS REQUIREMENT PLANNING MASTERCLASS

Current Demand, Component and Structure Planning to Manage the Inaccuracy of Balancing the Annual Inventory Record

4th & 5th April 2019
The Ritz-Carlton, Kuala Lumpur, Malaysia

Major Benefits Of Attending

By end of this course, delegates will be able to:

- UNDERSTAND the importance of their company's inventory structure system
- PROVIDE meaningful and insightful manufacturing and business excellence model
- INTERPRET what is the business and reasons for forecasting
- EVALUATE the supply and demand of planning of their KPI
- IDENTIFY potential problems within their business earlier
- DETERMINE the appropriate course of corrective action to identified problems
- BETTER MANAGE their sales and operation planning process

"It is impossible to improve any process until it is standardized. If the process is shifting from here to there, then any improvement will just be one more variation that is occasionally used and mostly ignored. One must standardize, and thus stabilize the process, before continuous improvement can be made."

- Masaaki Imai, Theorist and Management Consultant

Why you Should Attend?

Many organizations within the logistics, warehouse, production or distributor companies is often unaware the importance of having an annual inventory record purposes and achieving its report as it is crucial to stay on track and improve its services.

Often, employees are not aware of how necessary it is to have an inventory record as it will help to identify the problems being encountered. Has your management ever wondered ways of improving and achieving the target of the inventory record? Do you ever wonder what is the latest demand or technique of the inventory control system being used? Has your company ever encountered with slow-moving in operation, distribution or sales side? If the answers to your question are yes, this workshop would be most helpful for your management to improve further.

Here you will be taken through a very practical and informative workshop on understanding of inventory and supply chain management. You will learn some of the important tools to use when reviewing the annually inventory record. You will learn some of the common complication and obstacle of inventory system and how to overcome them. Your will learn the importance of having a holistic view of inventory and supply chain management of your company and industry.

Who Should Attend?

The seminar is specifically designed for intermediate and senior executives who are tasked with determining the best course and direction for their companies:

- ✓ Chief Executive Officer
- ✓ Chief Operation Officer
- ✓ Directors & Heads of Warehouse Operations & Logistics
- ✓ Production Controllers
- ✓ Material Analysts
- ✓ Supervisors & Account Executives
- ✓ Inventory Managers & Executives

And other Non-Inventory Staffs within the Organisation who are required to understanding on Inventory Management

Organized by: _____

