Why you Should Attend?

With this program, Board and Board Committee members and managers with internal control, risk management, and governance responsibilities, learn the ins and outs of techniques to refine current practices.

The expectations and obligations on Governance Committees continue to evolve in response to governance developments and the need for Boards and other governing bodies to demonstrate that they are adhering to relevant audit, assurance, compliance and risk management requirements.

This highly interactive two-day event will be of benefit to Audit, Risk and Compliance Committees members and attendees, including those who wish to benchmark how their Committee is functioning. Managing risk and providing assurances over governance and internal control systems is essential to protect and enhance organizational value. This program provides insight into the roles and relationships amongst the stakeholders involved in the governance, risk, compliance and control aspects of an organization.
