Why you should attend

Lots of businesses are focusing on integrating risk management into different business processes and not enough focus on integrating risk management processes themselves.

Everyone in the business should think of managing risks as part of their job and have the best tools to help them do so.

Optimizing risk management as an integrated component of each different business process means you should explore and implement integrated risk management, compliance and audit as an aligned 3 lines model that supports business objectives.

Find out how to do it during this 2-day workshop.

Who Should Attend

- Chief Audit Executives
- Senior Audit Managers
- Compliance professionals
- Auditing Professionals

from all levels across diverse industries in the commercial and public sectors.
